7.1.1.2 COUNCILLOR CODE OF CONDUCT

Councillor Code of Conduct

96.005.004

Introduction

The Councillor Code of Conduct (the Code) has been reviewed as required by the Local Government Act and a draft revised Code is now available for consideration by Council.

Background

The Local Government Act requires Council to have a Councillor Code of Conduct and for the Code to be reviewed within 12 months of a general election. The current Code has been in place since November 2009.

The Code must include certain councillor conduct principles set out in the Local Government Act. It may set out the processes for resolving an internal dispute between councillors and may also include any other matters relating to the conduct of councillors which the Council considers appropriate.

The Minister for Local Government has directed that the Council review its Code by 30 April 2013.

Issues

Independent facilitators assisted councillors in reviewing the existing Code and preparing a revised Code.

A Code of Conduct must include conduct principles as specified in Section 76B and Section 76B(a) of the Local Government Act. Those conduct principles refer to a “primary principle” and 7 “general principles”.

The primary principle requires a Councillor to –

- (a) act with integrity;
- (b) impartially exercise his or her responsibilities in the interests of the local community; and
- (c) not improperly seek to confer an advantage or disadvantage on any person.

A Councillor must also –

- (a) avoid conflicts between his or her public duties as a Councillor and his or her personal interests and obligations;
- (b) act honestly and avoid statements (whether oral or in writing) or actions that will or are likely to mislead or deceive a person;
- (c) treat all persons with respect and have due regard to the opinions, beliefs, rights and responsibilities of other Councillors, council officers and other persons;
- (d) exercise reasonable care and diligence and submit himself or herself to the lawful scrutiny that is appropriate to his or her office;
- (e) endeavour to ensure that public resources are used prudently and solely in the public interest;
- (f) act lawfully and in accordance with the trust placed in him or her as an elected representative;
- (g) support and promote these principles by leadership and example and act in a way that secures and preserves public confidence in the office of Councillor.

The revised draft Code of Conduct also addresses such matters as:

- Key roles and responsibilities;
- Use of Council resources;
- Values and Behaviours;
- Councillor Conduct;
- Communication; and
- Dispute resolution.

Community Engagement

There is no requirement to involve the community in the preparation of the Code. However the Code must be available for inspection at the Council offices.

Implications

The Local Government Act requires that the Code of Conduct must be reviewed within 12 months of the general election. The Minister for Local Government has further directed that the Code of Conduct relating to the Rural City of Wangaratta be reviewed by 30 April 2013.

Recommendation:

That Council consider and adopt the attached Draft Councillor Code of Conduct as the Councillor Code of Conduct as required by Section 76C of the Local Government Act.
